About The Conference

Respecting all the living and non-living beings ensures sustainability. To find harmony between economic growth, social responsibility, and environmental protection is not just a choice, it is a necessity. The essence lies in the thinking that for satisfying today our present needs, we must not compromise the needs of future generations and environment. For giving direction to the human generations the policy choices are imperative. The conference aims to guide the policy makers, industries and all human beings to safeguard the universe along with growth and development for the present as well as future.

Economic sustainability would be incomplete and short lived without the elements of social, human and environmental sustainability. A socially sustainable community will stimulate development of economically sustainable organizations. Human sustainability will foster economic sustainability of organizations and the nation as well as social sustainability of communities and society. Environmental sustainability contributing in preservation of natural capital is pivotal to development of all other capitals, namely economic, social and human. For sustainable development all these four pillars are necessary - Economic, Social, Human and Environmental. All these factors are essential while navigating the future.
